SUMMARY

Award-winning investigative journalist with 15 years in newsrooms covering elections, government and public policy across four states. Turns public records and complex datasets into clear, accurate charts, maps and interactive graphics using Tableau, Datawrapper, Flourish and Chart.js. Now builds production web applications and data pipelines in JavaScript, TypeScript and SQL.

DATA JOURNALISM & VISUALIZATION

Investigative Reporter — 2016 – 2022

Oklahoma Watch (Oklahoma City)

- Investigated Oklahoma's legislative, executive and judicial branches for independent nonprofit newsroom — beats included elections, dark money, criminal justice, redistricting and public health
- Built Tableau dashboards, Datawrapper charts and Flourish visualizations for own investigations and for other reporters — work published under Creative Commons and republished by other outlets
- Published Democracy Watch newsletter (4,000 subscribers), ran newsroom Twitter with live coverage of elections and legislative sessions, appeared on TV, radio and podcasts
- Investigations included hospital billing practices (22,250 court records), voter registration purges (90,000+ records), partisan legislation (3,600+ bills), campaign finance, redistricting and election misinformation

State Capitol Reporter — 2011 – 2016

Wyoming Tribune Eagle (Cheyenne)

- Covered the governor's office, state legislature and state budget across three election cycles
- Broke story on Wyoming Highway Patrol using ticket quotas to evaluate troopers — practice rescinded after publication
